The Vicar writes

At the end of August, we commemorate the anniversary of the building of St Mary's in 1848 and the dedication of the church by the Bishop. Then, the following Sunday, we mark our patronal festival in honour of St Mary the Virgin, to whom the church was dedicated. Therefore, this is a time of year in which we think of the Blessed Virgin Mary, our church community, and our church building. These three themes are a good beginning to the new academic year as so many things start up again after the summer break. As you'll see below, in my "In Church in September" section, there are plenty of occasions this month when we hope to see visitors to our church. We are also, as you'll see in "Ongoing projects", working hard on improving our facilities, for all those who visit or attend regularly.

I think it is an important part of our mission to ensure upkeep of our church and churchyard, and to open the church and welcome visitors as often as possible. This is not just for heritage and historical reasons- important as they are. It is also an important Christian witness. A recent study, published in June this year, showed that 13% of teenagers decided to become Christians after a visit to a church or cathedral. Visiting a church building was more significant than speaking to other Christians, youth groups, weddings or funerals, or any other experience, according to the statistics collected in the study. Reading this re-affirmed my own belief in the great gift of the buildings which have been bequeathed to us by previous generations, which it is our duty to steward in the present, and which we will hand on in due course to future generations. In the architecture and decoration of a church like St Mary's, the Christian faith is displayed, and the opportunity is open to everyone to experience a place where prayers are said and God's presence is real. Every day we can open the doors and invite people in, we are engaged in mission.

I hope that the coming year will see many people coming to St Mary's- regular worshippers, first time visitors, and those returning after a time away, and that our building and the welcome of our community may help more people to know the love of God in Jesus Christ.

ONGOING PROJECTS

As we celebrate our Dedication Festival on the day this EPN is published, it is appropriate to review the current plans for the church and churchyard. At "A New Year for St Mary's" in January, and again at the Annual Meeting, we discussed several projects to improve the facilities at St Mary's. Already this year

SUNDAY AT ST MARY'S

0800 HOLY COMMUNION

0930 SUNG EUCHARIST

The Sunday School meets in conjunction with this service in term time. There is coffee in the church hall between the 9.30 and 11 o'clock services on Sunday mornings, to which all are welcome, and especially newcomers and visitors.

LATE MORNING SERVICE varies by Sunday in the month

The usual pattern is our all-age Praise@11 on the first Sunday at 11am; 11.15am Choral Mattins on the second Sunday; 11am Toddle Up, a short and very informal service for toddlers and their families on the third Sunday; and 11.15am Morning Prayer with Holy Baptism on the fourth Sunday. The pattern changes on special occasions: see the calendar on the back page for details of this month.

1700 Second Sunday of the month ALL-IN An inclusive all-age service with something for everyone. Followed at 6pm-6:45pm by Club Sandwich, a youth group for 7-11s.

1730 Once a month CHORAL EVENSONG Just like a cathedral Evensong in our own parish church. Usually the third Sunday but see the calendar on the back page for details.

Occasionally there are variations from this pattern; details are given in this paper, on the Notice Board or in the Weekly Notes available on Sundays.

ON WEEKDAYS

Morning prayer is usually said at 9 am Mondays-Thursdays, in church. See the Weekly Notes or phone ahead to make sure. The Eucharist is celebrated on Tuesdays at 10 am, at the Side Chapel.

we have benefitted from improved security in the church. The field next to the new churchyard will be coming into use as a playing field in September by Ewell Castle School, for which the church will receive a small rent. The much-needed refurbishment of the parish office is in progress as I write, and when the work finishes in September we will have a much more efficient working environment and a much better first impression for those who come to St Mary's in the week via the parish office. We are also developing plans to improve the toilet facilities in church, and hope to be able to present our architect's first proposals to the congregation for discussion and comment in the near future. We also continue to work on plans to improve car parking for the church- an urgent necessity as those who come to St Mary's by car, especially on weekdays, will be aware. During the coming months we also plan to make further improvements to the audio-visual system in church, in particular improving the facilities available for concerts and the increasing number of occasions when the church is full for services and hosting school events. As you can see, we are very busy! All of this is only possible thanks to the very dedicated and hard-working team of parish officers and volunteers, in particular our churchwardens Valerie Wood and Nicholas Allsopp and the Chairman of our Estates Committee George Jarrett. Godfrey Morrell has been leading the office refurb project, and Ian Burgess has been heading up the security system and audiovisual work. I would like to thank all of them, and the many other people involved, who are working hard to improve our facilities. In this, as in every part of church life, we can only do what we do because so many people give countless hours to the work of the church.

IN CHURCH IN SEPTEMBER

The weekend celebrating our patronal festival begins on the evening of Saturday 2 September with an organ recital given by our Director of Music Jonathan Holmes. 7:30pm start as usual, £7 each or £1 for under 16s.

Sunday 3 September is different from the normal pattern as we continue celebrating our patronal festival. After the usual 8am service there is a special patronal festival Eucharist at 10am: note the time! The Revd Christopher Hancock, who was on placement with us in 2016, will be preaching. Then we are back to the usual 9.30am time every Sunday after that.

Our late morning services start up again, with Choral Mattins at 11:15am on Sunday 10 September, Toddle Up at 11am on Sunday 17 September, and a baptism service at 11:15am on Sunday 24 September. There are two evening services a month: All-in is at 5pm on Sunday 10 September, followed by Club Sandwich for 7-11s. Then on Sunday 17 September Choral Evensong is sung at 5:30pm.

St Mary's will be open during the day on Saturday 9 September for any visitors who would like to look around our church, but especially for those taking part in Ride-and-Stride to raise money for the Historic Churches Trust.

On Saturday 23 September we are putting on our annual "Day for all". St Mary's is open with activities for all ages taking place through the day. Full details

CAFE NESBOT

On Tuesdays in term time, students from NESBOT are serving simple lunches in our church hall (London Rd, opposite the church) between 12 and 2pm.

Soup, sandwiches, salad, and cakes, with tea, coffee, and soft drinks.

Everyone welcome!

elsewhere in these pages- there is something for everyone and I look forward to seeing you there.

After the summer break, our regular weekly activities will also be starting up again in September: children's hour, toddler groups, Fun Day Wednesdays, and our 10am Tuesday service of Holy Communion to name just a few. On Tuesday 19 September our bereavement café is open, in the church hall 2:45-3:45pm, for all those who would like to talk about their experiences of bereavement in a relaxed, cafe-style environment.

Finally, looking ahead to October, note that we will be celebrating Harvest Thanksgiving on Sunday 1 October, with our all-age Praise@11 service taking place at 11am. We will be collecting non-perishable foodstuffs for the Epsom and Ewell Food Bank.

MRS SUSAN HANFORD

It was with deep regret and much sadness that we learnt of the death of Mrs Susan Hanford, wife of our last vicar, Canon Richard Hanford.

Sue taught locally and members of the congregation often babysat for her. We frequently see one of her daughters with her husband and children serving coffee after the 9.30 Sunday Service.

To Canon Richard and his family we extend our deepest sympathy.

FOUNDED ON A ROCK

We celebrate the Dedication of our church in 1848 and give gratitude for those who have maintained it and especially our own Estates Committee who maintain it today.

SUGGESTED PRAYERS

O most high, Almighty, good Lord God, to thee belong praise, glory, honour and all blessing!

Praised be my Lord God for all his creatures, and especially for our brother the sun, who brings us the day and who brings us the light; fair is he and shines with a very great splendour: O Lord, he signifies to us thee!

Praised be my Lord God for our sister the moon, and for the stars, which he has set clear and lovely in the heavens.

Praised be my Lord for our brother the wind, and for the cloud, calms and all weather, by which thou upholdest life in all creatures.

Praised be my Lord for our sister water, who is very serviceable unto us and humble and precious and clean.

Praised be my Lord for our brother fire, through whom thou givest us light in the darkness; and he is bright and pleasant and very mighty and strong.

Praised be my Lord for our mother the earth, the which doth sustain us and keep us and bringeth forth diverse fruits and flowers of many colours, and grass.

Praised be my Lord for all those who pardon one another for his love's sake, and who endure weakness and tribulation: blessed are they who peacefully shall endure, for thou, O most highest, shalt give them a crown.

Praised be my Lord for our sister, the death of the body, from which no man escapeth. Woe to him who dieth in mortal sin! Blessed are they who are found walking by thy most holy will, for the second death shall have no power to do them harm.

Praise ye and bless the Lord, and give thanks unto him, and serve him with great humility.

St Francis of Assisi

WHAT IS EVIL?

Evil always outflanks attempts to define it. It has a powerful ally in the Human Will - misused.

Each one of us wants our own way - financially, sexually, status-wise. "I want" is a name parents sometimes jokingly call a young child.

But the child is only trying to make its way in the world - "the world" i.e. Mammon.

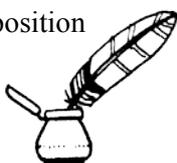

There's the definition problem.

What other way can a child learn?

All can end at the highest level with corrupt government, industry, sport; at the lowest level with criminal gangs. Evil.

Some have suggested that it's simply our historic collective Human Will which is the Problem of Evil but Jesus is clear that a spirit of evil is at work in the world - responsible for insanity, disease, and opposition to His Way.

Every time we pray we forestall the Devil and hack into his Satanic cyberspace.

OPERATION CHRISTMAS CHILD 2017

Yes, it is that time again! No sooner have we returned from our summer holidays and families got their children ready for a new term at school, a new academic year, than the shops seem to be beginning to set out their Christmas stock. It seems to begin earlier and earlier each year but, no, here at St. Mary's, we have not succumbed to the rampant commercialism that we see all around us. However, we are once again preparing to think ahead in readiness for Christmas.

For several years now, we have been supporting Operation Christmas Child and, just in case you are wondering where our gifts have been going, here is some news from last year's campaign -

Solomon's story - a report from the team

When Solomon received an Operation Christmas Child shoebox gift, his guardian Pastor Febiano was keen to express his gratitude.

'Words fail me to adequately express our feelings. Imagine how the box travelled all the way from the UK right up to a remote village of Matambo in the Chongwe district of Zambia... I wished you were here when Solomon opened the box to witness tears of excitement and joy in his eyes. The items in the box were special for Solomon because never in his life had he received such a gift.'

For Pastor Febiano and the orphans under his care poverty is a daily reality. He depends on subsistence farming for his livelihood and sometimes this falls short of providing for his family. He said, 'I must confess that this gift has greatly helped me in many ways financially because I will not buy toothbrushes, soap, pens and pencils in the immediate future. The toys too were unique... This gift, small as it may seem, goes a long way in addressing some of the needs I am unable to address. Due to income constraints, we do not see toys, toothbrushes etc. as priorities for children when in fact they are needed... Thank you once again for this gift. I give praise and glory to the Lord for this. Indeed our God is the provider!'

As you, or your family, or neighbours prepare for the new term ahead and are buying those new shoes for yourself or for your children or you know someone else who is, hang on to those shoe boxes and get ready to join us as we, once again support Operation Christmas Child during November.

There will be more information about how and when you can take part in the October EPN so keep an eye open for it then. Thank you.

A Day for All - Autumn glories - 23 September

From 12.30 to 6.30pm

Come along to St Mary's and bring family and friends. There will be something for everyone – and it's all free, apart from the fish and chips!

Enjoy a day of activity, entertainment and discovery – see the timetable below. Bring your excess garden produce, jams, or small items such as a book, a child's toy etc. to the Swop Shop. Give and take for free - see the adjacent article. For the first time this year there is a photographic competition – also free! There are two age categories. More information in next column.

Free soup lunch, tea and coffee.

Round the day off with fish and chips at 5.30pm. There is a vegetarian option. Place your order no later than 20 September and pre-pay either through the Parish Office (parishoffice@stmarysewell.com) or sign the list at the back of church and give your money to Wendy Varney or Sue Ayling.

As part of the A DAY FOR ALL, the Swop Shop will once again be open in the church for people to donate and take goods.

It may not have been a long, hot summer this year but the fruit and veg in my garden have benefited from the rains that we have had. Maybe you too have a surplus of produce that you would like to 'swop.' Bring it along to St Mary's church and let someone else enjoy it too.

Perhaps you would make some jam if you could get hold of free fruit? If so, come and see if the Swop Shop has just what you want. May be you have perennials in your flower border that need dividing - but what do you do with the plants that you can't find a space for? Bring them to Swop Shop. Or you might bring a book, or a child's toy or a board game.

Bring your items along from 12 noon. (No clothing, thank you.)

GOLD AND SILVER

"All round our nest, far as the eye can pass,
Are golden king-cup fields with silver edge,
Where the cow-parsley skirts the hawthorn hedge" Dante
Gabriel Rossetti (1828-1882)

Rossetti was talented as a painter and illustrator as well as a poet. Here is part of "Silent Noon" in which he pictures a familiar English landscape: fields of golden-yellow king-cups and pure white stands of cow parsley. It would have been in late April or May that he envisaged the scene for that is the only time both flowers are in bloom together.

Were he alive in 2017 he would probably be astonished at the sight of his "silver edge"; it can look like a forest! Waysides on Epsom Common, Horton Country Park and Hogsmill Local Nature Reserve are thickly strewn with the striking white florets and fern-like leaves of cow parsley (Anthriscus sylvestris). It is the earliest to flower of a number of similar-looking plants. It grows tall, to over a metre in height. According to a survey conducted by the Countryside Commission, there has been a 53% rise in the number of cow parsley plants in the United Kingdom between 2007 and 2014. Inevitably the question arises: why? The answer is to do with soil fertility. Soil receives much nitrogen either directly from fields in the form of fertiliser and indirectly from exhausts of motor vehicles, hence the ground is much more fertile. There is much more traffic today than even a dozen years ago, let alone in the 19th century. Contradictory though it sounds, many wild plants actually need infertile soil. If it is too fertile, what happens is that just a few robust species - cow parsley, stinging nettle, bindweed, dock - thrive at the expense of everything else.

On the other hand, Rossetti might be saddened if not altogether surprised to learn that the king-cup or marsh marigold (caltha palustris) has declined with the demise of wet meadows; certainly there was widespread drainage throughout Britain in his day and this has continued. It is a plant that loves to have its roots in moist ground. To my knowledge a few grow in Horton Country Park; the best place to see them, however, is the London Wetland Centre at Barnes. Here the ditches that criss-cross the reserve are edged with clumps of rich golden-yellow marsh marigolds; they are a heart-warming sight in spring. Fortunately, it is a plant that readily takes root when planted either from seed (in autumn) or by division (in autumn or early winter). Marsh marigold is very much a wildlife-friendly species: its dense foliage provides shelter for beetles and amphibians in early spring, and the flowers are a source of nectar for early-flying bees and butterflies.

Can the "silver edge" of cow parsley also claim to be beneficial for wildlife? Its characteristic umbels of small white flowers attract pollinating bees and other insects; also butterflies such as the Orange-tip. It takes readily to gardens; after flowering they should be dead-headed to prevent self-seeding.

THE TEMPLE-HAUNTING MARTLET

"This guest of summer, the temple-haunting martlet...No jutting, frieze/ Buttress nor coign of vantage, but this bird/ Hath made her pendent cradle/: Where they most breed and haunt, I have observed/ The air is delicate". Thus Banquo to King Duncan ('Macbeth' Act 1 scene 6). Shakespeare has written a highly astute description of house martins and their ecological stability, to use present-day jargon.

Although 'martlet' is used in heraldry, the term itself is obsolete; here it is merely a synonym for 'martin' which was in general use until the 19th century. This is one of the few bird names derived from a Christian name: Martin - note that Epsom's parish church is dedicated to St. Martin-of-Tours - was a military man of the 11th century. Mars was, of course, the Roman god of war. No-one knows exactly why the term 'martin' was used. We can, perhaps, speculate on an underlying link between the bird and military architecture. Shakespeare's use of the word 'coign' - the corner of a building (we use 'quoin' nowadays) - shows that in his day, house martins were as well known in city buildings as on ancient churches and castles such as Cawdor.

We in Ewell appear, alas, to be lacking in house martins. The closest nests that I am aware of are at Berrylands Station, and we can quickly see why. It is of paramount importance for the birds to have ready access to mud, for it is that with which they build their nests. They choose a vertical surface - like a wall - as nesting site, directly under a sheltering overhang, and assemble the mud cup at the angle between the two planes. The Hogsmill flows too fast for much mud to form whereas at Berrylands, the disused sewage works, still containing water, provide a ready source of mud for the martins living there.

Incredible though it seems, it has been established from observation that a pair of martins will fetch over 1000 beak-sized globules of mud to make a nest.

A commensal neighbour of the house martin is the sparrow; and, because it is a dominant species, can take over an almost-completed martins' nest with impunity. Occasionally one hears of 'revenge' tactics: a pair of martins has been known to wall up the entrance hole thus incarcerating the sparrow on its eggs inside. People can become very attached to 'their' martins. It is considered a great privilege to have a pair nesting, and put up with a few weeks' dirt or inconvenience for the sake of their company.

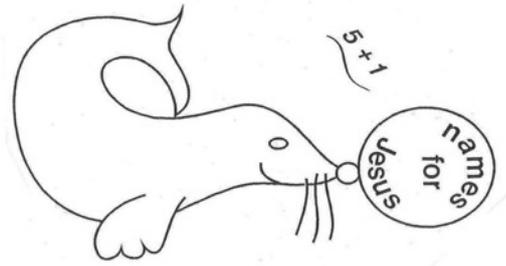

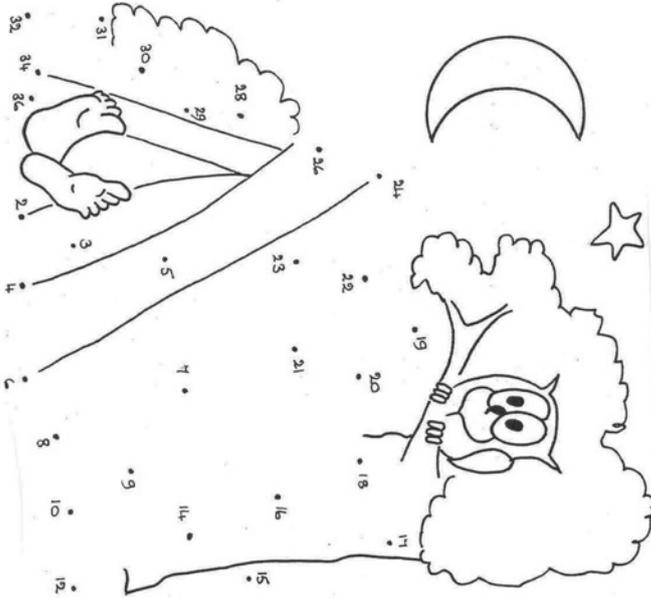

In conclusion, house martins are officially protected, and it is forbidden to harm the bird in any way or endanger or destroy its nest, eggs or young (see Schedule 1 of the Wildlife and Countryside Act 1981 for details). Despite being such a familiar bird, surprisingly little is known of its life history. For instance, it's not known whereabouts they go in winter. Of an estimated European population of 90 million, only one has ever been found again south of the Sahara.

Are you going back to school this week? You might even be going to school for the first time!
 Will you have a bag like this to carry?

Sometimes we can have worries about school, but don't forget that Jesus can help us with any "burden" as we learnt back in July!
